

A SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY

- APEC Telecommunications Working Group. 1993. The State of Telecommunications Infrastructure and Regulatory Environment of APEC Economies. Volume 1. Singapore: Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation.
- APEC Telecommunications Working Group. 1994. The State of Telecommunications Infrastructure and Regulatory Environment of APEC Economies. Volume 2. Singapore: Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation.
- Federal Communications Commission. 1994. Trends in the International Communications Industry. Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office.
- Federal Communications Commission. 1992/1993. Statistics of Communications Common Carriers. Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office.
- Haring, John. et al., 1993. The U.S. Stake in Competitive Global Telecommunications Services: The Economic Case for Tough Bargaining. Washington: Strategic Policy Institute.
- Lewis, William W., et al., 1992. Service Sector Productivity and International Competitiveness. Washington: The McKinsey Global Institute.
- Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. 1993. Communications Outlook. Paris: OECD.
- Office of Technology Assessment. 1994. Electronic Enterprises: Looking to the Future. Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office.
- Office of Technology Assessment. 1993. U.S. Telecommunications Services in European Markets. Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office.
- Services of the European Commission. 1994. Report on U.S. Barriers to Trade and Investment. Brussels.
- Smith, Peter and Staple, Gregory. 1994. Telecommunications Sector Reform in Asia: Towards a New Pragmatism. Washington: The World Bank.
- Standard & Poor's. 1993. Industry Surveys: Telecommunications. New York: Standard & Poor's Industry Surveys.

U.S. International Trade Commission. 1993. Global Competitiveness of U.S. Advanced-Technology Industries: Cellular Communications. Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office.

U.S. International Trade Commission. 1991. Global Competitiveness of U.S. Advanced-Technology Manufacturing Industries: Communications Technology and Equipment. Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office.

Also available from the Economic Strategy Institute:

Working Together: A Bipartisan Trade Agenda
January 1995 ($14.95)

Crossed Wires: How Foreign Regulations and U.S. Policies Are Holding Back the U.S.
Telecommunications Services Industry
December 1994 ($19.95)

China and the WTO: Economy at the Crossroad
November 1994 ($14.95)

Can the Phoenix Survive? The Fall and Rise of the American Steel Industry
June 1994 ($19.95)

Shrinking the Atlantic: Europe and the American Economy
June 1994 ($14.95)

Making the Framework Talks a Success
February 1994 ($14.95)

An Evaluation of the Economic Benefits of Narrowband and Broadband Communications
December 1993 ($14.95)

Beyond Capitalism: The Japanese Model of Market Economics
October 1993 ($21.00)

The Future of the Airline Industry
August 1993 ($14.95)

Play to Win: Toward a New Paradigm for USAF
Research and Development
January 1993 ($9.95)

The Future of the U.S. Auto Industry: It Can Compete, Can It Survive?
June 1992 ($25.00)

Include $3.00 per item for mailing in the United States; $6.00 per item for mailing overseas. D.C. residents or organizations add 5.75% sales tax. Send check or money order in U.S. funds (payable to "ESI") to the address listed below.

The Economic Strategy Institute was founded to define a new American agenda for the twenty-first century. By challenging outmoded doctrines and examining the links between domestic and international economic policies, technological prowess, and global security issues, ESI aims to develop an integrated strategy that will halt erosion of the U.S. economic base and assure the future of America's unique promise. The Economic Strategy Institute (ESI) is a nonprofit, tax exempt research center under Section 501 (c)3 of the Internal Revenue Code.

ESI

Economic Strategy Institute

1401 H Street, NW ♦ Suite 750 ♦ Washington, DC 20005
Telephone: 202/289-1288 ♦ Facsimile: 202/289-1319